More Trips Likely For Pope Paul

VATICAN CITY UPI — Pope Paul VI, acclaimed by a million Romans Monday night on his return from a historic three days in the Holy Land, is virtually certain to make more trips abroad, Vatican observers said today.

The success of the 66-year-old pontiff's visits to Jordan and Israel and his two meetings with Patriarch Athenagoras of the Eastern Orthodox Church cast him in a new role as a traveling apostle of peace and unity in a divided world.

London's Daily Herald suggested today that the Pope's next journey should be to the United Nations in New York. It said this would help the cause of world peace as had his Holy Land trip.

Hammond Picked As New School Principal

James M. Hammond, principal at Amo High School, has been named by the Mill Creek Community School Board as principal of the new Cascade Junior-Senior High School.

The school, now under construction, will consolidate Amo, Stilesville and Clayton Junior and Senior High Schools and will be completed for the 1964-65 school year. Enrollment is expected to be near 825 pupils in the upper six grades.

Hammond previously was principal at Stilesville and Fillmore. He is a graduate of Greencastle High School and holds bachelor and master degrees from Indiana State College.

Organization Meeting Is Held By City Council On Monday Evening

As required by law, the City Council had its organization meeting at the City Hall last night at 7:30. Those present were Mayor Ray Fisher, City Clerk Clifford Frazier, City Attorney Rexall Boyd, and Councilmen Robert Eppelheimer, Robert Poor, Robert Jackson and Ernest Collins. Councilman Chester Grimes was absent, as he was in Chicago on business.

The Council adopted the second and fourth Mondays as its regular meeting dates, with the first regular meeting to be held January 27.

The Mayor appointed Councilman Robert Eppelheimer to serve on the Board of Public Works and Safety. This board is composed of the Mayor, City Attorney and one councilman. The Board has the responsibility of providing the police and fire protection for this City as well as that of constructing and maintaining the streets, side walks, sewers, and sanitary facilities.

The Department of Water is administered by a three-man water board appointed by the Mayor and City Council which operates independently of the Board of Works.

The Finance Committee for the new term will consist of the Mayor and Councilmen Collins and Poor. This committee reviews disbursements and in general administers the City budget. It also reviews and advises in connection with the determination of the proposed budget for presentation to the City Council.

The City Council is to designate one of its members to serve on the City Planning Commission, and one on the Park Board. Action on these appointments was deferred until the next Council meeting. No action was taken on the designation of the City Engineer.

Edgar D. Whitcomb, Seymour, today formally announced his candidacy for the United States Senate on the Republican ticket. In making his bid for the nomination, the 46 year old attorney stated, "I shall wage a vigorous campaign in every county of the State to reduce taxes, to bring government expenditures in line with income and to earnestly apply constitutional principles in our government. Everyone interested in this kind of a program is urged to join in this campaign."

Clarence Sligh, charged with public intoxication, was fined $1 and costs, a total of $21, and sentenced to serve 90 days on the Indiana State Farm by City Judge J. Frank Durham Monday night.

A remark made by Sligh as he was leaving cost him an additional 30 days for contempt of court, or 120 days on the farm.

Claude Query, also charged with public intoxication, was fined $1 and costs and sent to the farm for 30 days by Judge Durham.

Secretary of State Charles O. Hendricks, Speed has announced his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial post.

Medicare Has Little Chance

WASHINGTON UPI — Here is the outlook for major issues before the second session of the 88th Congress:

Senate leaders hope for passage by mid-March of $11 billion tax cut bill already approved by House. The measure would benefit about 50 million individuals and 576,000 corporations. About two thirds of tax relief would go into effect as of last Jan. 1, and the remainder next Jan. 1. But if bill is long delayed, Congress could make effective dates April 1, 1964 and April 1, 1965.

House Rules Committee begins hearings Thursday on broad civil rights bill which is expected to reach House floor early next month. No Senate consideration until after House acts.

Chances are dim for passage of bill to provide hospital and nursing home care for Americans over 65. House Ways & Means Committee will resume hearings Jan. 20 on proposal, which was pigeonholed last year. All signs indicate majority of committee members are still opposed to the measure. The plan would provide health care benefits financed by an increase in Social Security taxes on both workers and employers.

Club Will Move To Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. UPI — Charles O. Finley waved a legal contract with the state of Kentucky in the face of American League clubowners today and in effect defied them to keep him from moving his Kansas City Athletics to Louisville for the next two seasons.

Finley, Gov. Edward T. Breathitt and other state officials signed the contract in the governor's office at Frankfort Monday, binding the colorful club owner to move his team from Kansas City into Louisville's state-owned Fairgrounds Stadium for the 1964 and 1965 seasons and to play as the Kentucky Athletics.

Prosecutor Acts In Case At Barnard

A preliminary charge of assault and battery with intent to kill was filed in Putnam Circuit Court Monday afternoon by Prosecutor James Houck against Mrs. Caroline Bailey of Barnard.

This action is the result of the wounding of Robert Bailey, 40, Saturday night by Mrs. Bailey, his mother.

The younger Bailey was shot twice in the home of his parents when he failed to heed his mother's warning to stop beating his 7-year-old son, Forrest Lee.

Bailey was taken to the West 10th Street Veterans Hospital in Indianapolis where he remained in serious condition today.

Witnesses told authorities that Bailey had been drinking Saturday prior to the shooting episode.

The elder Baileys operate the general store in Barnard.

Students Ignore Auburn Negro

AUBURN, Ala. UPI—Auburn University's first and only Negro student was ignored by white students Monday when he left the dormitory where he lives alone to attend his first two classes.

Harold Alonzo Franklin, a 31-year-old graduate student, stood in line at the university book store to buy textbooks for classes in the history of Russia and the history of England.

Students paid little attention to Franklin, dressed conservatively in a neat brown suit.

Other students, most of them dressed in sports clothes and some wearing fraternity pledge cards around their necks, did not speak to Franklin and he not speak to them. Franklin had breakfast alone in his dormitory room.

Franklin, taking long strides and looking straight ahead, walked into his Russian history class without incident four minutes early. About 20 students stood in front of the classroom building and watched the 6-foot-4 Air Force veteran enter but they made no comment.

Ease Probation For IU Players

NEW YORK UPI—The National Collegiate Athletic Association has granted Indiana University some relief from a four-year probation by permitting the school to participate in NCAA championship events in which Olympic teams are to be selected later, including basketball.

Indiana was hit by a four-year probation on April 27, 1960 for several recruiting violations and 1 barred from all NCAA Championship events as well as post-season bowl games.

By lifting the probation on sports on the Olympic calendar, the Hoosiers will be permitted to play in the association's basketball championship this year, provided they became eligible by winning the Big Ten championship.

MARCH OF EVENTS

MANY SURPRISED
AT LBJ'S STANDAMERICA FIRST,
JOHNSON FEELSBy HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Writer

WASHINGTON—Johnson's emphasis on civil rights legislation in his address to Congress came as a surprise to some of his colleagues, and to many ordinary people around the country. Despite his vigorous push for civil rights legislation while he was in the Senate, many people could not disabuse themselves of the notion that Lyndon was essentially a Southerner, and therefore a conservative.

So they were surprised that Johnson not only embraced John F. Kennedy's full stand on civil rights, but maybe even carried it a step further. Kennedy always spoke of civil rights and tax cut legislation in the same breath, as co-equal necessities at the top of his legislative program.

Johnson went him one better. He placed civil rights first and most imperative, and tax cuts second on his own list of things Congress must do.

A little thought will make the reasoning come clear. Johnson happens to be fully convinced that Congress must progress on civil rights legislation for the good of the country. But his view happens to coincide with the demands of his own political future.

His renomination for the presidency is only a few months off, and Johnson must convince the Eastern and Mid-West wings of his party that he is a "national" and not a sectional figure. How better to do it than to push for civil rights, the issue closest to the big city Democratic political machines, and farthest from his native state of Texas.

● MORSE, NOT PASSMAN—For years, Rep. Otto Passman, Louisiana Democrat, has claimed fame principally on his efforts—successful most years—in cutting foreign aid appropriations. Passman has achieved this eminence on the basis of his chairmanship of the House Appropriations Subcommittee which handles money requests of that agency.

However, this year, Passman has hardly been heard from. Instead, the limelight has been stolen by an interloper, a Johnny-come-lately—and a liberal, to boot. The man responsible for deep cuts in this year's foreign aid appropriation was Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, who entered the Senate as a Republican, switched his affiliation to the Democrats and succeeded in winning re-election under his new party label.

Morse successfully offered a long series of amendments to cut the foreign aid appropriation when it was under consideration in the Senate and now gets credit for the economy effected.

● POLITICAL TRUCE—The unreality of political truces usually are quite subtle, but in the present instance were unusually clear.

After the first shock of President Kennedy's assassination were off on Capitol Hill, the thought seemed to grow that the best thing Congress could do to help Lyndon Johnson, his successor, was to wrap things up as quickly as possible and go home.

The idea was that a congressional absence would give Johnson time to pick up the reins of government, look over the establishment to see what personnel and policy changes he would need to make, and generally give him time to settle in his job. Sounded pretty appealing and generous.

The fact is the congressional opposition to Kennedy's program have strung out this session of Congress until it now is the longest in peace-time history. They have done this because they see political gain for themselves in the delays.

Indianapolis, Ind.—On slippery roads, as at no other time, drivers need horse-sense more than horsepower, J. E. Nicholas, general manager of the Indiana Motor Truck Association, said here today.

Speaking in connection with the Indiana trucking industry's January Courtesy and Safety Campaign, "Safe Winter Driving," he urged drivers to remember that "easy does it" is best rule when driving on slippery roads. "The powerful engines, power steering and improved brakes on today's motor vehicles are still only as effective as the stopping relationship between the tires and the road surface," Mr. Nicholas stated.

He pointed out that the most important consideration at any time while driving is how soon can drivers stop their vehicle and that slippery roads should instantly make a driver reduce speeds drastically.

Woman Editor Is On The Spot
INDIANAPOLIS UPI — The two great interests in the life of Mrs. Vera Hall, Danville, put her learning a new business — the weekly newspaper.

"My husband was always interested in politics but he preferred to work behind scenes," Vera said. "He helped put quite a few into office but he would never take a job."

With Alvin's death in 1945, his widow took over full management of the newspaper and has undertaken to follow his same philosophy of leading separate political and newspapering lives.

"Some candidates have come to me and asked for my support in the convention," Vera said. "That includes a friend who is a candidate for governor. But I tell them the same thing—I can't commit the paper until after convention."

The Gazette, established in 1880, traditionally has been Democratic.

Vera is particularly proud of her journalism honors in the Woman's Press Club of Indiana and Theta Sigma Phi, professional organization for women in journalism. "I never studied journalism but learned it first hand, so these organizations mean a lot to me," she said.

One of the best kept secrets—and one which the IDEA may not know about its new treasurer—goes back to her youth.

She switched from Republican to Democrat allegiance when she said "I do."

"My Republican relatives thought it was the end of the world for me," she recalled. "But I've never voted Republican since."

Don't Lose Finesse

The Doubleton Queen

By Alfred Sheinwold

Few plays exasperate you more at the bridge table than to lose a finesse to a singleton king or to a doubleton queen. It's bad enough to lose the finesse, but it's worse to hear a smug opponent tell you his picture card would have dropped if you had refused to take the finesse.

Opening lead — A K

West takes the top spades and leads a third spade to kill dummy's queen. East ruffs, and you over-ruff.

You lead a diamond to dummy's king and return the jack of hearts for a finesse. West wins and returns a heart, defying you to win the rest of the tricks.

If you are a normal skillful player you draw one more round of trumps and cash the three top clubs. When the clubs fail to break, you lead a diamond from dummy to finesse with the jack.

This loses to the queen, and you must endure all the witticisms that occur to your opponents and all the complaints that issue from your partner. Perhaps, after all, solitaire is a better game than bridge!

SHOULD NOT LOSE

Don't admit a thing, but the fact is you should not lose the diamond finesse in this hand. You should capture the doubleton queen.

After drawing trumps, lead out your last trump and discard a low diamond from dummy.

When the clubs fail to break, all hands are down to two cards. Dummy has a club and a diamond; from dummy. Then cash the three top clubs, ending in dummy.

When the clubs fail to break, all hands are down to two cards. Dummy has a club and a diamond; you have the ace-jack of diamonds.

You lead dummy's diamond, and East follows with the ten. You know that East's other card is the jack of clubs, so that you cannot possibly gain by finessing with the jack of diamonds from your hand. Hence you play the ace of diamonds and happen to drop the queen.

Leading your last trump at an early stage didn't really squeeze anybody, but it made the last two tricks very clear and prevented you from taking a losing finesse.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-Q 8 3 H-J 10 7 D-K 8 5 C-Q 8 6 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades. The alternative is to bid one notrump. Prefer the raise of a major suit when you have the choice.

The great highway performer

64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan and (background) Impala Convertible

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet

What does it take to make a car a great highway performer?

If the car happens to be a '64 Chevrolet, one thing only. A highway.

You'll find everything else already neatly packaged for you—on the car exactly as you pick it off the showroom floor.

There's a choice of seven engines—all the way up to a twin-carb high-compression 425-hp V8*—and four transmissions, including a finely honed 4-speed stick shift.*

And underlying it all—a bump-skimming Jet-smooth ride that helps keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

What about special performance equipment? Professional driving skills? Forget them.

Nobody has to doctor or coax or soup up these Chevrolets to get the best out of them.

And that's really the test of a great highway performer: Just about anyone can get a kick out of driving one, just about anywhere, just as it comes out of the showroom.

Next time you're out your dealer's way, allow a few extra minutes to sample one of these highway performers on your own. A few are really all you'll need. That's enough time to do a lot of driving in a Chevrolet.

Putnamville WSCS Held Christmas Party

The Putnamville WSCS held its annual Christmas meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Friend Saturday evening, Dec. 14th at 5:30. Husbands were guests of their wives on this occasion and there were eleven members and seven guests present.

Our charming hosts had decorated their home beautifully in keeping with the Yuletide season. The bountiful and delicious dinner was served buffet style with Mrs. Robert Harlan asking the Blessing. Each member had contributed a dish, or more, to the dinner and consequently a nice variety of foods was the result. However, the center of the meal was the turkey, purchased by the society, which had been expertly baked by our hostess.

After dinner, which was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone, we gathered in the living room for the gift exchange. The remainder of the evening was spent singing carols and in pleasant conversation. A glowing fire in the fireplace lent an atmosphere of warmth and cordiality which, it seemed, was reflected in everyone present. All left at a late hour thanking our hosts for a lovely evening and wishing each

POPE PRAYS AT CHRIST'S TOMB—Pope Paul VI prays at the tomb of Jesus Christ inside the Holy Sepulcher Church in Jerusalem, Jordan. An electrical short-circuit of powerful television cables caused a fire and the lights of the church went out, but the Pope continued on with the Mass by candlelight. The Pope is expected to complete his journey through the Holy Land, Monday.

Penney Catalog Being Distributed

Distribution of J. C. Penney Company's first promotional catalog, featuring 196 pages of predominantly Penney-brand soft and hard goods, has gotten under way.

The catalog, which will have a distribution of 2 1/2 million copies primarily in the Midwest area served by the Company's Milwaukee distribution center, features reductions on regular merchandise, pre-season offerings and special purchases.

Promotional prices will be effective until March 10, with the exception of sheets and pillowcases for which reductions will be in effect through January 1964.

Cloyd Moss, manager of Penney's here, said "This third Penney catalog is uniquely Penney's, featuring the Company's traditional quality merchandise at reduced prices during the promotional period." The promotion encompasses comprehensive offerings of the Company's traditional soft goods as well as new lines of hard goods.

The Penney manager said copies of the promotional catalog are available at the catalog desk in his store. The latest book was preceded by the first all-Penney catalog, for Fall and Winter, which was issued in August and a Toy Catalog introduced in October.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

To Cure Colitis . . .

AS ITS name implies, colitis is a disorder of the colon, a part of the large intestine.

Normally, the lining of the colon and the rectum is a thin, smooth mucosa (mucous membrane similar to the inside of the lips). This delicate tissue becomes inflamed and thickened by the invasion and irritation of certain bacteria, viruses or parasites. The lining then becomes covered with blood and fibrin, which are evidences of infection, inflammation, ulceration and ulceration. Hence the term "ulcerative colitis."

Since the causes are many and often misunderstood, ulcerative colitis is sometimes referred to as being "non-specific" in origin. This simply means that the cause is suspected but not exactly confirmed or definitely established.

Suspected Factors

There are some predisposing factors that have been suspected, such as long periods of chronic constipation or spasm of the "irritable colon" due to psychological disorders.

Ulcerative colitis is a disease that can occur at any age. Young people between 18 and 35 seem to be the more frequent candidates for this condition.

Until the diagnosis is made, the symptoms of colitis are often confused with a wide variety of intestinal disorders. Constipation, diarrhea, nausea, flatulence (gas), heartburn and abdominal cramps may occur singly, or in combination.

Must Be Determined

The exact condition of the intestinal tract must be determined by all the tests that are available for pin-pointing the cause and location and the exact character of the disease.

X-Ray examination of the lower bowel is valuable in confirming or denying the suspected disease of the colon. Examination for blood or parasites in the stool contributes greatly to establishing a diagnosis.

It has been noted that ulcerative colitis is characterized by unexpected periods of quiescence and relief from discomfort. Recurrences begin just as unexpectedly and are usually triggered by some emotional upheaval.

Psychosomatic Response

There are few illnesses of the body that are as closely identified with the psychosomatic response as is this single intestinal condition. There is almost universal agreement that emotional stress, conflict, repressed hostility and a host of psychological turbulences are intimately interwoven with the cause of this disease.

The choice of treatment for ulcerative colitis is customized for each individual case. Chemotherapy (sulfas), antibiotics, cortisone and ACTH are combined and varied, depending on the course and progress of the condition.

But in order for treatment to be effective, the recognition and understanding of deep-seated psychological conflicts are imperative.

Basic To Control

Psychological support, kindness and patience are fundamental to the eventual control of this debilitating condition. Physicians everywhere are becoming more and more aware that drugs alone are not nearly as rewarding as is the combination of emotional sustenance and carefully chosen newer medications.

Your intestinal symptoms are your own. They may resemble symptoms described by those concerned with your welfare, but the greatest contribution they could make to your good health is to encourage you to seek and find the professional advice that definitely establishes the reason for your own illness.
